

Expect Dean Rusk To Oppose Rush To Summit Talks

New Secretary of State Favors Cautious Forms of Negotiation

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The new secretary of state for the Kennedy administration, Dean Rusk, made clear today that he thinks it is expected to oppose the rush to the president's personal diplomatic summit conference advocated by Soviet Premier Khrushchev and favored by British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Rusk, 51, a self-made diplomat, favors more traditional and cautious forms of negotiation. His views on the subject were spelled out earlier this year in a lecture at the Council on Foreign Relations in New York. He made clear there that he thinks it is expected to oppose the rush to the president's personal diplomatic summit conference advocated by Soviet Premier Khrushchev and favored by British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Discoverer XVIII Shows Less Radiation Than Discoverer XVII

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Air Force scientists said yesterday that Discoverer XVIII Satellite's nose cone was subjected to far less radiation than was that of Discoverer XVII during a similar flight through space.

The earlier satellite flew through much heavier radiation than last week's vehicle because a solar flare of near-record size occurred seven hours before the November firing. Dr. George Crawford, a nuclear physicist at the School of Aviation Medicine here, said yesterday.

The gold-plate capsule from Discoverer XVIII, which was opened yesterday, did not receive enough radiation on its 43 trips around the world to register on the detectors called needle dosimeters, he said.

Detailed reports on the exact amount of radiation and its effect on seven types of human tissue, bread mold, bacterial spores, algae and other specimens in the capsule are expected within two weeks.

The capsule was flown here from California after being recovered by an Air-Force C-119 over the Pacific.

David Stearnes Calls for Sales Tax

Study Committee Head Says State Falling Industrially

MILWAUKEE (AP)—David Stearnes, chairman of the Wisconsin Committee for Tax Revision, said Monday that the state is falling behind industrially and needs property tax relief through a sales tax.

Stearnes spoke to a joint meeting of Young Republicans of Milwaukee County and the 18th Ward Republican Club. His organization represents the Wisconsin Manufacturers Association, the Milwaukee Association of Commerce and the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce.

He said his committee has ready for introduction in the state Legislature a bill that would provide for a 3 per cent general sales tax, half of the revenue being used to reduce property taxes throughout the state by 18 per cent.

Stearnes said it would also eliminate the surtax on individual incomes, raise the personal exemption from $7 to $12 and reduce the corporate income tax rate from 7 to 6 per cent.

He assailed the Governor's Tax Study Commission for what he said was a long delay in deciding on a plan for revision of state and local taxes.

Specter of Death Dims Young Man's Wedding

LONDON (AP)—Like all brides, Patricia Allen was happy and excited on her wedding day. But for her young husband it was hard to be gay.

For 24-year-old Brian Bruton knew that within weeks his lovely wife would be dead with cancer.

He shared his tragic secret with the chaplain and guests who crowded round Patricia's hospital bed for the special marriage ceremony.

Last Days Happy
But he kept it from his 26-year-old bride so that her last days should be happy.

Smiling, she whispered the responses as she lay clutching a bouquet of red carnations and stephanotis.

Brian gently slipped the wedding ring on her finger.

Then Patricia helped him cut the first slice of wedding cake.

Now, after only 20 days of marriage, Patricia is dead.

Man Ties Woman To Tree With Wire

UDINE, Italy (AP)—A cattle butcher in an impoverished area in the northeast Italian mountains has been sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his sister-in-law by tying her with barbed wire to a tree.

The body of Pierina Cassina Cengic, 48-year-old mother of eight children, was found last Jan. 8 fastened to a snow-covered tree near Masarolis de Torreano. She died of exposure.

Lino Cengic, 37, was convicted Monday of her murder. A friend, house, their mother had Pietro Macoris, 45, was found left them briefly to go to a nearby store. The dead were Ellen Sherockski, 4, George 2, and William 1, children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sherockski, whose three Macoris said he was too drunk that night to remember anything.

Kennedy May be Robbing GOP of Major Ammunition

Opposition Difficult to Build If Dillon Accepts Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon fears President-elect John F. Kennedy is robbing Republicans of some of their thunder by veering to the middle of the political road.

Nixon bases this view on appointments to the Cabinet and other posts his successful presidential rival already has announced—and some that still are in the speculative stage.

It is no secret that Nixon feels if Kennedy names Douglas Dillon, now undersecretary of state, as secretary of the Treasury and Dillon accepts, the action will make it more difficult to build Republican opposition to the new Democratic administration.

Moderate Views
This would put a Republican of moderate views at the helm of a department concerned with management of the nation's fiscal affairs. Dillon would be in a position to put a brake on the kind of big spending Nixon forecast in the campaign would be the hallmark of a Kennedy administration.

Republican political philosophy has always been geared to claims of fiscal responsibility. If Kennedy makes this a keystone of his administration—as he has pledged to do—the Republicans are going to have to look elsewhere for ammunition to use against him in 1964.

Nixon and Dillon talked by telephone before the latter went off to Paris to sign the charter of the new 20-nation Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development. While Nixon avoided advising Dillon, other Republicans have made it clear to the undersecretary they don't think he ought to become the first GOP member of the Kennedy Cabinet.

There is admiration in the Republican camp for the political finesse Kennedy has displayed in other appointments.

His choice of Dean Rusk as secretary of state has given the Republicans little to complain about. At the same time, Kennedy moved out of the direct line of their fire three favorite GOP political targets.

Radical Platform
He did this by naming Adlai E. Stevenson as ambassador to the United Nations, Rep. Chester Bowles as undersecretary of state and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan as assistant secretary for African affairs.

In his U. N. post Stevenson is not likely to be the object of the kind of attacks he would have faced as secretary of state.

Republicans blamed Bowles primarily for what most of them described as the radical Democratic platform. But there isn't much political pay-off in attacking an undersecretary. Particularly if his boss seems to be doing a good job.

The same sort of political reasoning holds for Williams.

English Baby Wins $121,192 On Soccer Pool

Oxford, England (AP)—An 18-month-old baby today won 43,235 pounds ($121,192) on a British soccer pool.

The entry went in under the name of baby Paul's mother, Mrs. Jacqueline Cox, who greeted the big win with the comment: "Good heavens. The baby did it."

Paul made eight stabs on the coupon with his colored pencil. Mrs. Cox faithfully entered each stab. Each one turned into a drawn match and Mrs. Cox hit the jackpot for a farthing (quarter of a cent) bet.

The pool claims the win is a world record for a farthing bet.

A week ago Paul threw 21 pounds $58.50 on the fire.

"That was a small fortune to us," said the 26-year-old father, Norman Cox. "I work at a car factory and I'm expecting to be put off around Christmas time."

"Paul has an insatiable appetite for money. He hides it, eats it, destroys it like a terrier. Next thing we have to keep out of his way in the winning check."

Japanese Like Selection of New Secretary

Assert Rusk Will Give Attention To Asian Problems

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese foreign office sources today noted the Asian links of secretary of state designate Dean Rusk and undersecretary Chester Bowles and suggested the appointments may mean more attention by the United States to the problems of this area.

"Both have long experience and deep understanding of the problems of Asia," said one official. "Therefore, we welcome the appointments by the new administration since they indicate the U. S. government's coming emphasis and concern over Asian problems."

Dulles Assistant
Rusk's role as an assistant to John Foster Dulles in drawing up the 1951 peace treaty with Japan makes him a familiar figure among Asian policy makers.

Rusk's problems here may be eased by his personal friendship with Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda whom he entertained as finance minister in New York three years ago.

Ikeda, 64, is 10 years younger than Rusk, but they have been working together for 15 years. Rusk drew up the U. S. Japan peace treaty of 1951, said Mr. Ikeda knows about Japan. He is realistic and thinks carefully before acting. He should make an excellent secretary of state.

Rusk's selection crowded out other news out of top place in most Tokyo newspapers.

The mass-circulation Yomiuri Shimbun reported the appointment as an indication that President-elect John F. Kennedy, like the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, will be his own man in policy making.

Talk Softly
And like the earlier Theodore Roosevelt, his policy is expected to be more softly but with a big stick," it said.

It described Stevenson as ideal for the U. N. job.

The Sankei Shimbun described Rusk as a promoter of peace, a foreign policy and as a champion of moderate liberal and conservative wings of the Democratic party.

There was division of opinion both in official and unofficial circles in Formosa that neither Sen. William Fulbright nor Bowles had been given the top post.

Kennedy's Cabinet Selections So Far Non-Controversial

Little Chance That Appointees Will Meet Congress Opposition

BY JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy has gone about picking a cabinet like a man determined to avoid a brawl before he has a chance to start his presidency. None of his four Cabinet appointees so far is a controversial figure.

None therefore is likely to get much opposition or criticism from liberals or conservatives in the new Congress next year—at least in the beginning.

Kennedy filled the spot which could have caused the hottest rumors with an adroit but non-controversial figure, Dean Rusk, head of the Rockefeller Foundation and secretary of State.

Rusk in the past held several important jobs—the highest as assistant secretary of State for Far Eastern affairs under President Truman—but handled himself unobtrusively. To the public he was generally unknown.

Had to be Adroit He had to be adroit to be on that Far Eastern desk in 1950 and come through unscathed when the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy was relaying the State Department for its handling of Far Eastern affairs, particularly in China.

Rusk is esteemed for brains by people who know him. Since he's a quiet operator, he and Kennedy will have the advantage of starting out in foreign affairs with at least a period of peace and quiet.

He'll get his share of brickbats later, which is par for the course for secretaries of State.

The story would have been different if Kennedy had given the No. 1 foreign policy job to Adlai E. Stevenson, who is a hero to some.

The slot Kennedy picked for Stevenson — ambassador to the United Nations — can hardly cause a fire in Congress or elsewhere. In the United Nations Stevenson will not be making American foreign policy. He'll just be expressing it.

Kennedy reportedly had considered several men for the job before finally gave Rusk. Stevenson, Chester Bowles and Sen. William Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, among others.

Apparently he did his greatest soul-searching in the case of Bowles. Monday, he gave Bowles the State Department's No. 2 job as undersecretary, which puts him at Rusk's right hand.

Bowles, a liberal, a Connecticut congressman and former governor, had a fine record as ambassador to India under Truman and as administrator of the Office of Peace Administration during the war.

He was Kennedy's foreign policy advisor during the presidential campaign. But his part in shaping the liberal Democratic platform far from endeared him to some of the conservative members of his party.

There might have been some sharpshooters at him right from the start if Kennedy had named him secretary instead of the non-controversial Rusk. As undersecretary Bowles will be in a position to move up if Rusk ever leaves.

Public Dispute None of Kennedy's other three Cabinet appointees has been in any broad public dispute and has no backlog of ill will to carry into his new job with him.

Those three are Connecticut Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff as secretary of Health, Education and Welfare; Stewart L. Udall, Democratic congressman from Arizona as secretary of the Interior; and North Carolina Gov. Luther H. Hodges as secretary of Commerce.

All three of them, like Bowles, were active Kennedy supporters during the campaign. Still Kennedy can't be accused of picking his key men to pay off political debts.

Kennedy said Monday he had never met Rusk until last week. And David Elliott Bell, a Harvard economist whom Kennedy named budget director, didn't take an active part in the campaign and hardly knew the president-elect.

God's thoughts. The Bible has been given us by the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. As we grapple with the ideas and teachings of obedience, not our lack of knowledge but our lack of knowledge of the Bible we discipline our minds edge. We all know more of the ways of the Lord than we practice to think as God thinks.

"The Quiet Time is the place in daily living. The Quiet Time is to develop our thinking after God's to produce obedience through fellowship. During the Quiet Time lowship with God." He said, "we read the Bible not so much to learn new facts as to get the God's way is attainable and gives spirit and attitude of God toward the strength to walk in God's the problems of His universe." ways.

"The problem of sin in the. This presence, he added, shows that no sin is too small to be overlooked by God, and makes man aware that he can make continuous progress in following the Lord.

"Finally, the presence of God gives us strength to do the will of God." The Rev. Mr. Humbert said, "We cannot have the power to do right without God Himself."

'Quiet Time' Needed for Union With God

Obedience Result Of Fellowship, Rev. Humbert Says

"The Quiet Time," a period set aside by an individual to be alone and listen to the voice of God as it comes to man through the Bible, was explained Sunday by the Rev. Harold P. Humbert, pastor of First Baptist Church.

"The Quiet Time is not just a period of quietness and reflective thinking," the Rev. Mr. Humbert pointed out. "Psychologically, we all must have periods of quietness to offset the rush of modern living."

He explained that this period is more than just being alone. It is personal fellowship with God. "I am thinking of a period of time devoted to concentrating on listening and talking to God."

Bible is Guide He said man must have fellowship with God in order to stay human — without it man almost acts like an animal. And the pastor added, God is anxious to have fellowship with man.

The barometer of the Christian life is the depth, meaning and regularity of the Quiet Time," he added. No one can be a strong Christian without it, he said.

Discipline Minds "The Bible is necessary to give a proper balance to our thinking, to keep the person with too many thoughts from going astray. We need a guide, something external to our own thinking that can keep us on the right track toward God. The Bible is this creative guide," the Rev. Mr. Humbert said.

Charlie Retells Story of Real Santa Who's Lived 1,617 Years

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

When you were littler than you are now, you believed in Santa Claus. Now you are bigger and you have a right to know the whole, pretty secret of the real and true Santa Claus who lived a very, very long time ago.

Hundreds and hundreds and hundreds of years ago, a little baby was born in Asia Minor, in a city called Patara.

Except for one important thing, this little baby was the same as babies are everywhere. He gurgled some and he laughed some and he cried some, which is what most babies do. But the only different thing about this baby that I can think of was that he was going to grow up to be the real and true Santa Claus.

Named Nicholas

The baby's name wasn't Santa Claus. The baby's name was Nicholas. I don't know what his mother and father called him, but maybe they called him "Nick."

Nick started to grow from a baby to a boy. People said that he was a very good boy. I don't know if he was any better than you are, but he was surely just as good. He was very kind, though, and I think that every year he tried to be even better and kinder than he was the year before.

The years passed the way they always do, and then Nick was a young man. He was such a nice person that some people asked him if he would work in his church to sort of help people if they needed help. Nick said he would, and he did. He did his work so well that soon he became head of his church.

Followed Christ

Nick lived near a place where Christ had lived long before. Everybody around there knew about Christ and loved Him. They tried warm place. Sometimes he would go far away into the north.

Would you like to know how he dressed for the cold weather?

Well, mostly bishops wear red clothes and Nick did, too. But when he was up north, he always wore some fur on his red clothes. He wore a red hat with white fur trimming on it. He wore white fur trimming on his coat, too, and he wore warm boots because of the snow in the north country.

When he was dressed like that he looked just like the Santa Claus you see today — all in red and white.

And Nick had to use a big sleigh to travel with, over all that snow, because he carried packages with him so that he could give them to people and especially to little boys and girls. I think you know that he used reindeer to pull his sleigh. Reindeer are very good at walking on ice and snow.

People Missed Him

One day a very, very sad thing happened. Nick had grown old—very old—and so he died, but people remembered him and they had liked him so much that they decided to call him a saint. A saint is just about the nicest person you could ever know. So whenever they talked about Nick, they called him Saint Nicholas. The day he died is one that people remember because he was so nice. It was Dec. 6 in the year 343, which is 1,617 years ago—a very, very, very long time.

People missed Saint Nick so much that they asked each other a question. "Who will take his place? They asked, because they knew that the little children would miss him.

So, because everybody in the world likes to see little children be happy, different people in different cities made believe they were Saint Nick just during Christmas time. Then they dressed just like Saint Nick had dressed, and they gave presents to little children and to big people, too. It made everybody happy.

Board OKs New Teacher For Morgan

The Appleton Board of Education Monday approved hiring of an additional teacher for slow learners at Morgan School — if such a teacher can be found.

Morgan Principal Rolland Nock reported that 81 full-time and 13 half-time pupils are enrolled in the special education department, and four or more are awaiting enrollment. Mrs. Ruth Solberg has up to 16 young children in her class, while the state recommends a maximum of 12 in such classes.

Supt. John P. Mann said he is seeking a special teacher for junior high school which the board authorized, but he has been unable to find one.

The teacher for Morgan would cost the board only $2,153 of a $5,000 salary, for the state pays about 57 per cent as an incentive for school districts to offer special educational help.

The crowding at Morgan is caused by families moving into the city, children being transferred from regular grade classes and children expected to attend half days becoming mature enough to attend full-time, Nock explained.

Construction Worker Dies Under 3 Tons Of Structural Beams

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Donald Olson, 22, of Mason, Wis. (Bayfield County), was killed Monday when crushed by three tons of structural steel that fell three stories to the ground at a St. Catherine's College dormitory construction site.

Olson was standing atop some beams as the steel was being lowered. The steel slipped, carrying beams and Olson with it. Olson has been living in the Minneapolis suburb of St. Louis Park.

and they were nice men to do a good thing like that.

Secret Spreads

Pretty soon the wonderful secret of Saint Nick spread to many other countries in the world. In add of these places, some nice man would make believe he was Saint Nicholas so that children would be pleased and happy. In one of those countries, a very funny thing happened. His name accidentally was changed from Saint Nicholas to Santa Claus. Here is how it happened that we call him Santa Claus:

Dutch people who came to our country a long time ago spoke in a language that is different from ours. When they wanted to say Saint Nicholas, they said it like this: "Saant Nicholas."

Now I am going to stop my story for a minute while you try to say Saant Nicholas, but you must say it very fast . . . see? You said Santa Claus! And that is the very same way he got the name we call him. People had just said "Saant Nicholas" as you did.

Children Made Happy

Now you know that there was once a real, true Santa Claus. But you know that he could not live to be so old as 1,117 years old, could he?

But when you were little, your mother and father helped you to believe in Santa Claus because it is a wonderful way to make little children glad. Mothers and fathers are right when they try to do things that will make you happy because that is the way that children really ought to be. Just think, mothers and fathers have been doing that all those years since Saint Nicholas died.

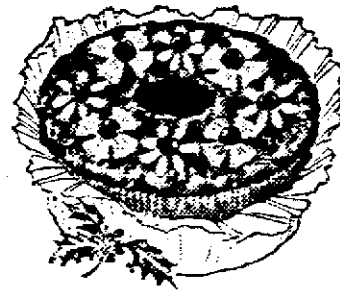

I think it is very nice that almost everybody in the whole world makes believe that the real Santa Claus is still here, and that he comes to visit the children around Christmas time because he loved them so when he was alive.

And so now you know the wonderful, happy secret of the real Santa Claus who lived so long ago and who loved children so much that we still pretend that he is still here around Christmas time.

Christmas Mail Rush Underway

The Christmas mailing rush is starting slower than last year, but it certainly is starting. Appleton Postmaster Francis Sinnich reported today. The greatest impact was felt Monday evening, he said. The normal daily average of machine cancelled letters is about 35,000 but Monday a total of 113,000 pieces were machine cancelled. However at a comparable time last year — the first day of the rush season — 140,000 pieces were machine cancelled. Incoming mail also was down. Last year 101,600 pieces came in on the first rush day, while 98,000 came in Monday. Of this a substantial increase was noted in the number of advertising brochures and calendars. Last year 10,000 came through but this year there were 24,000. Incoming parcel post jumped to $73.9 pieces Monday, as compared to only 3,300 last year. Outgoing parcel post was about the same, with 4,000 pieces. The mail and parcel post deliveries are current. Sinnich said but he added that it is important for people to mail early to avoid a last minute rush.

Social Studies Curriculum Change Asked

Closer Correlation Of Junior, Senior High Courses Is Aim

Revision of Appleton seventh to 12th grade social studies courses to require five instead of four years and to provide closer correlation between junior and senior high disciplines is proposed by an eight member committee of teachers and principals.

The curriculum will be discussed by the Board of Education next month. Instead of offering a survey of U.S. history twice—in eighth and 11th grade—the committee would put emphasis on the period before 1876 in eighth grade and on post-reconstruction history in 11th grade.

Civilization Course

A required senior course in world civilizations would replace the present elective world history course, which students take as sophomores, juniors or seniors. The civilizations course would be taught from the approach of area such as Greek history, renaissance period, modern Africa, or theme such as revolution or war. Instead of citizenship disciplines, ninth graders would get government, including local, county, state, national and international themes.

Seventh grade geography would have eastern hemisphere emphasis.

Present Gaps Seen

Psychology, economics, political science, sociology and philosophy would remain as senior electives and would be offered both semesters.

The committee said its suggestions are an attempt to remedy gaps in the present curriculum.

Economics, Culture

"Now a student can be an AHS graduate with meager knowledge of both political trends and world civilization heritage," the teachers wrote, calling the discipline of world civilization "a frame of reference for college and university work as well as for understanding today's event."

The new senior course would

President Cites YMCA for Work In Armed Services

President Eisenhower has cited the Young Men's Christian Association for its work on behalf of America's Armed Forces, declaring this service to be a major contribution to national security. This information was received by Harold Adams, president of the Appleton YMCA from the organization's national headquarters.

The President's views were expressed in a congratulatory letter addressed to the national board of YMCA's on the eve of the association's 100th anniversary of service to the nation's fighting men.

The YMCA movement will commemorate this anniversary throughout the country in 1961. Adams said the "Y's" armed services work began in 1861, when a group of local YMCA associations formed the United States Christian Commission. The Commission sent 4,359 volunteers to battlefields, hospitals and camps in an effort to provide spiritual and physical relief to Union and Confederate soldiers.

Subsequently, Adams said, the YMCA directed practically all volunteer services for troops in the Spanish-American War, handled nine tenths of all welfare work in World War I, and operated a quarter of all American-based USO Clubs during World War II and the Korean conflict. The "Y" also provided spiritual, educational and recreational services to millions of prisoners-of-war in more than 30 countries.

Rap Moves to Organize U. S. Farm Workers

Bureau Criticizes What It Calls Monopolistic Unions

DENVER (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation convention struck today at what it called monopolistic practices of organized labor and criticized moves of some unions to organize farmers.

Federation President Charles B. Shuman told the annual farm meeting that much of the unemployment in the nation's steel industry could be attributed to unjustified wage increases that have helped, he said, to price steel out of its markets.

Resolutions to be submitted to the convention later this week, but at recent efforts on west coast and in some sections of the northeast to organize farmers and farm laborers.

Economic Power

"The concentration of economic power in labor unions permits re-ent," the resolutions stated, "to measures which if used by any other economic group would result in drastic anti-trust action."

Several members of the resolutions committee predicted the day will come — and perhaps soon — when organized agriculture's next battle will be to head off unionization efforts in the farm field.

The methods and procedures authorized for labor unions are unworkable when applied to the marketing and pricing of farm products," the resolutions said.

Compulsory bargaining by labor unions in industry, they said, is designed to equalize the bargaining power of workers and employers.

Farmers are far more vulnerable to work interruptions than other employees because their crops must be harvested when ready. Not only a year's income but a substantial investment in buying crops to harvest stage may be lost in a relatively short time.

Collective Bargaining

Compulsory collective bargaining by unions for farm workers would not result in equalization of bargaining power, but rather the subordination of farmers to labor union leaders.

As to farm policy, the resolutions stuck pretty closely to those adopted a year ago. They called for a minimum of government intervention in agriculture — or a reduction of farm programs administered by President-elect Kennedy.

Possibilities Mentioned

Among those mentioned for securing farm incomes at a time when corn brings 60 cents a bushel and tractors cost $2,000.

McNamara, president of the Ford Motor Co., said Kennedy's policy was arranged in order to displace national farm policy rather than administration, and Roswell Gilpin, chairman of the office of the director of agriculture, said that his recommendation on a secret Force under President Truman.

Before McNamara's announced resignation, Kennedy was concentrating on the day on conferences dealing with the secretary of agriculture post-state in his cabinet.

There were also hints from the president-elect's press secretary for the treasury's son.

cause hoping to throw the election into the House of Representatives. It is considered very unlikely that this will happen.

There was no immediate comment from Byrd, who supported neither presidential candidate in the campaign.

Electors Not Counted

The eight undecided electors from Mississippi and the six from Alabama have not been counted either way in determining Kennedy's electoral vote total of 300.

In Texas where 21 electoral votes, U. S. Dist. Court Judge Ben C. Conally ruled that his court had no jurisdiction to rule on the Republican challenge of the election result. He also said there was no proof that anyone's rights had been violated when the hands of Texas ballots were voided for technical reasons.

Within two hours after the ruling the State Board of Canvassers met in Austin and formally certified the election of 21 Democratic electors pledged to Kennedy. This move appeared to preclude any further legal action by Texas Republicans under state law.

46-233 Texas Margin

Kennedy won Texas by a margin of 46-233 votes. The Republicans claimed that more than 100,000 ballots had not been counted and asked the court to order a recount of all paper ballots cast in Texas.

In 1960, with 27 electoral votes, State Court Judge Thomas E. McManus dismissed two suits by Republicans against the Democratic-dominated Cook County and Chicago Election Boards. They demanded that officials canvass results be altered in favor of Nixon.

Kennedy's margin in Illinois was 24-73 votes. His majority in California just edged NAACP's rule in GOP conservative areas.

George Dimples, attorney for the Nixon re-election committee, said the suits said he would appeal Kennedy's rulings to high state courts.

But time is running out. The National Electoral College will meet in traditional ceremony at the White House on Dec. 18, less than a week from now when the election result will be official.

Against Colonialism

Educational, Cultural and Scientific Organization adopted a resolution Monday, calling for a "new internationalism" to his and manifestations "should be rapidly suppressed. The resolution was a modified version of the one originally presented by the Soviet delegation.

commend a withholding plan for collecting income taxes.

A proposal to overhaul the state's tax distribution system is included in the report draft prepared by Upton. Under the plan $100 million a year in additional state-collected revenue would be distributed to localities to relieve property taxes.

Lower Real Estate Taxes

The additional funds would create a $150 million fund to replace community revenues lost in cutting real estate taxes a total of $47 million and repealing $33 million in personal property taxes on merchants' and manufacturers' inventories and livestock. The state also would assume the estimated $25 million cost of administering general relief and categorical aids to the disabled and blind.

In effect the new distribution would result in shifting the burden of $100 million in property taxes from local to state taxpayers.

Balanced Budget

The additional $35 million a year the proposed revenue package would raise would be used to balance the state executive budget. Revenues estimated for 1961 are $1.1 billion, but at least $70 million of the $33 million requested by the state's operating agencies.

The draft reached by Upton also would cut the 19-member committee or record in favor of these changes.

Repeal highway user taxes for trucking firms.

Permit municipalities to levy additional motor vehicle taxes which would be state collected.

Levy a franchise tax on banks.

Encourage Youngsters To Accept Responsibility

BY ANGELO PATRI
One of the charges the critics position to compare our young people with those of foreign countries is their immaturity. I have not lived with the compared with those their age foreigners but I have lived with across the water. I am in no position to compare our young people with those of foreign countries but I have lived with our own boys and girls and I like them very much indeed. Our young people have a way of speaking what is in their minds letting the chips fall and of course, at times, outraging their elders. The elders ought to spend their rage on some other far more deserving subjects but that is neither here nor there. We are talking about the immaturity of our young people.

Not As Responsible
I do not deny that many of our high school students are not as responsible as they could be, but when we say that, what responsibility should they shoulder? Who lets them carry any? Who offers them any? "You go to school and study your lessons and I'll attend to this." Ever hear anything like that in your family? Or, "Keep still. You don't know what you're talking about."

Maybe he doesn't but if he is not permitted to tell what he thinks, even criticize the decisions of his parents, how is he to look more "sensibly" at matters? Youth is idealistic. It is the time of life when a boy or girl believes that he can change men's ways for the better, make this world the threshold of heaven itself. Let them, for their dreams are what is going to improve things in good time.

Talk Openly
To help them feel responsible for their time, their duties, their decisions they must be allowed to talk openly to teachers and parents that they may hear both sides of the story. They must be allowed to share in all that goes on from the purchase of a turkey to the papering of the living room, from the decision on where to spend vacation days to what is to be done with the dog at that time. And be allowed, even pressed into action concerning such decisions. In short, these children cannot shoulder any kind of responsibility unless they learn what it means by experience.

Schools, homes, labor unions, churches, are equally responsible here. The young people may well charge each and all of them for refusing to give any sort of responsibility to "juniors." The juniors would like to grow up by assuming responsibilities for things within their ability.

Angelo Patri offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning child training. If you

Your Problems Women Whose Husbands Hunt Needn't Clean Birds, Ann Says

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please please please help us women whose husbands have no consideration for the work they bring us during hunting season.
My husband loves to hunt — anything. I don't mind being left behind because he enjoys it so. I worry a little, as all hunt-wid- Ann Landers ows do but I never let him know the thing that burns me up is that he brings home the birds for me to clean. He says when a husband shoots 'em the wife is supposed to clean 'em. I say it's unfair. If a man enjoys the sport he should do the dirty work connected with it. What do you say? — Feathers Flying

When she was a young child her father doted on her, which was all right. I thought this attachment would be outgrown when she became of dating age.
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm but I was wrong. What can be afraid my husband is running our teenage daughter. Please print this letter. I can't have it coming to the house.
Is it right for a 16-year-old to sit on her father's lap every night for hours and watch TV? Is it right for them to kiss on the lips several times during an evening? She has no interest in boys her own age. I've heard her turn down perfectly nice fellows so

DEAR A.F.R.: You are not mistaken. No professional person should use his patients, clients, parishioners or students as subjects for social conversation. The teacher's poor judgment reflected on her profession and if she repeats this sort of performance, someone should tell her off.
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I agree with you that husbands should not bring home birds for the little women to clean — and this goes for fish, too. A wife does her part by letting her husband enjoy his sport without complaint. She shouldn't have to be a pheasant-plucker, too.

Next year's golf plans will be discussed and Christmas carols sung. The next coffee is scheduled for February.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Are teachers supposed to honor a code of professional ethics? I always thought teachers were expected to preserve confidences just as doctors, lawyers and clergymen do.
A certain teacher was in a social group the other evening and someone asked how So-and-So's son was doing in her class. I was shocked and disappointed when the teacher gave a full five-minute report on the boy's stupidity, his laziness and inability to get along with others. The boy's parents heard of this the next day and they were furious.

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
SQUEAKING BED SPRINGS
Question: We have coil bed springs that squeak and are very annoying. Is there any way to correct this?
Answer: Squirt a non-oily lubricant, available at most hardware and paint dealers, at every point where one piece of metal touches another, or use a few drops of oil from an oil can at these points. Wipe off any excess to prevent staining of the mattress. "Joince" the springs several times to work the lubricant or oil into the joints.

Sweaters Rate Tops For Gifts
Ever try to pick your favorite male's brains about what he wants for Christmas? Then you know the frustration of receiving that reply: "Oh, give me anything" or "I can't think of a thing I need." You know he really doesn't mean it at all. (Now, a bright female's response is a handy little suggestion list, complete with his sizes and color preference.)
To ease this periodic trial of mind-reading, American Fashion Views recently conducted a gift preference survey, in which a representative number of men were approached at various public places.

Sweaters First
Here's the tip-off: in the clothing category, they like wool sweaters best. "Never can have enough of them," was a frequent remark. If you're thinking big, a new automobile is the overall first choice, and many said they wouldn't spurn a nice bundle of cash.

There was a time when a man's idea about a sweater paralleled that of the chorus girl about a new book — already had one, so didn't need another. Today, sweaters are so tremendously varied and creative in styling, color and pattern that they're turning men into sweater collectors. Proof of their reaction to this sweater appeal is the spectacular 100 per cent increase in sweater sales alone over the past five years.

Style Range
Sweaters have achieved an all-around wardrobe — first in importance, for active sports loafing at home, school, work and socializing, ranging in styling from supple sleeveless vests and fine gauge shirt sweaters to husky,ident of his company, but his bulky outdoor cardigan and pull-sic tastes are the same. He'd love another sweater for Christmas.

Next to "dress for the occasion" the most gruesome menace to a lovelier appearance and charm. You remember look your best self nor project your best self when you are worn to a nub.

At the moment, it seems the majority of the female contingent is in a numb-worn state—exhausted rather than exhilarated by the preparations for holiday festivity. This is a sadness in a sea-son when every lovely wishes to dispense cheer and partake of it to the full. It's a pity, too, for there are so many ways to restore vitality and sparkle.

The following method has been chosen as it takes little time, a commodity nobody has enough of. Here's what you do. Every day, sometime during the afternoon, lie down on the floor with your head flat and your feet elevated on several pillows. That's a position which brings quick relief to a tired body. It will not relieve taut muscles and nerves, however, unless you close your mind to all thought.

If you are so tense that your

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

YOUNG PEOPLE, BEWARE!

We have two sons. One is a junior in college and the other is in prep school. Both seem to be popular and are looking forward to the Christmas vacation festivities. I am a worried mother and think that your comments on the young people's behavior may help others who may share off some of the tragedies that happen at this time of year. Mothers don't always seem to get their point across to these boys and girls who think their parents are old fashioned or "don't understand". I am particularly referring to party crashing, coming home at dawn and sneaking bottles of whiskey to what were meant to be well regulated dances and parties.

Louise Davis Answers:

The young people who think their parents are old fashioned and don't understand will come day be the same worried parents as you are. Their behavior is often times deplorable. A well brought up boy or girl wouldn't dream of crashing. A well brought up parent wouldn't dream of letting their son or daughter give an uninvited party. Boys driving cars are responsible for the safety of their passengers and should be well aware that one can't drink and drive. Young people who sneak bottles to parties are not only playing with fire but they are extremely rude and inconsiderate to their hosts and hostesses. Such behavior often ends in tragic accidents. If these young adults have had the right and wrong and why's of behavior drummed into them from the time they could toddle, there is better assurance that they will use common sense when the time comes to step out socially. It is poor parental judgment to wait until their children grow up to hand out these words of wisdom.

Town of Menasha Hikes Tax Rates For School Areas

Spring Road Boosted 5 Cents; Maplewood Given $1.37 Increase

MENASHA—Increases of 5 cents for the west side and $1.37 on the east side were set as the tax rates by the Town of Menasha board Monday night.

The Spring Road School District includes all of the township on the west side of Little Lake Butte des Morts and will pay a tax rate of $19.74 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This is up 5 cents from this year's $19.69 rate. Of this rate $11 is for the school and $8.74 for high school tuition and transportation.

Maplewood District residents on the east side of the lake will pay their taxes on a rate of $18.97. This year the rate for the section attached to the Menasha school system was $17.60.

All of the county, state and township operating costs borne by the township will come out of the general fund balance and from receipts anticipated during the year.

Shelve Well Project

Because of the amount of opposition to a community well for the residential area north of Highway 150 and immediately west of Highway 41, which has been created as sanitary District No. 5, that project is being shelved for the present, the town board announced.

Additional cards received in the survey taken among property owners in favor of it.

Oscar J. Madsen of the state board of health's sanitation department advised the board not to proceed with the project at this time because of the strong opposition. He suggested gathering and distributing more information to the residents of the area before resuming the project.

The town board members serve as the commissioners for the sanitary district.

Application of the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. to go across two town roads with a gas service line was denied by the town board because previous crossings.

Chief of Police Gives 3 Warnings

MENASHA—Police Chief Peter P. Clark today issued two warnings to young people and one to motorists.

He asked children to stay off river and canal ice until it becomes thicker and safer.

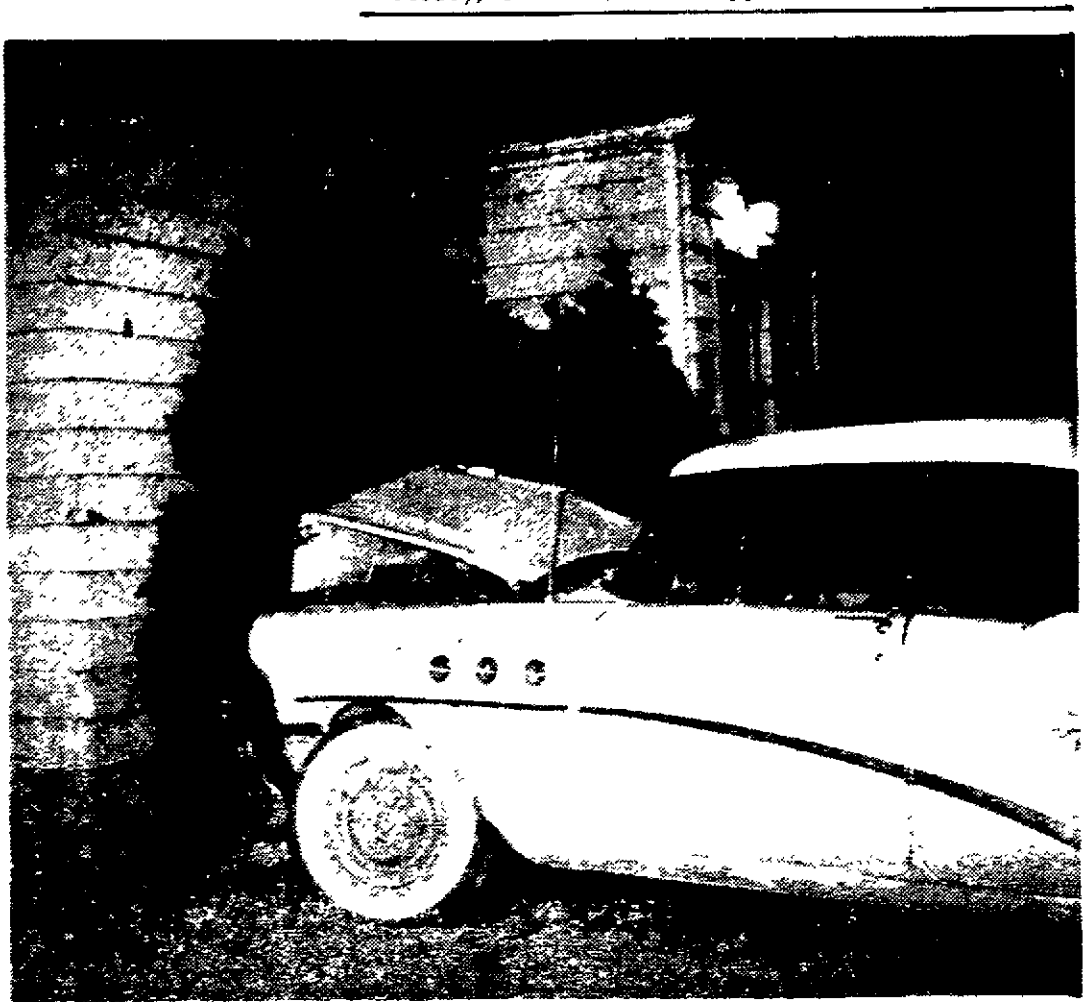

Clark warned young pranksters not to steal or remove bulbs from the municipal Christmas trees. Some were taken out early today from the tree on the point off the Mill Street bridge.

Drivers are reminded to have their cars off the streets between 2 and 6 a.m. daily, to aid in snow removal operations. City ordinance provides for fines on that, he said.

Clark said the rain gauge at the Menasha government locks was destroyed by vandals.

Memorial services will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. today at the vice president of the Farmers' Winnebago Masonic Lodge No. 184, Omro and Winnebago, died 184. Friends may call at the Mueller Funeral Home, Winnebago, this evening.

Survivors include the widow, Fernan Church, Winnebago, with two daughters, one sister, one brother and seven grandchildren.

Stopping Short of Damaging the home of Donald Thornton, 605 De Pere St., Menasha, this auto first snapped a utility pole 92 feet away. Its owner, Donald J. Seidling, 24, 212 Racine St., Menasha, received a possible fractured jaw, lost two teeth and suffered cuts and bruises. Driver was Richard J. Zimmer, 42, 301 First St. The car failed to round a curve at De Pere Street and Appleton Road. Other careening cars have rammed the pole about nine times this year.

Youth Admits $497 Theft to Kansas Police

Neenah Teenager, Girl Companion Found at Wichita

NEENAH—A 17-year old Neenah youth, charged with the theft of $497 from the Gehlke Filling Station on Main St., Neenah, Nov. 20, was apprehended Monday in Wichita, Kans.

The Winnebago County sheriff's office received a call Monday from the Wichita police indicating they had picked up the youth and his 16-year old girl companion at Appleton and were holding them for investigation.

The Wichita police stated that the youth had admitted the filling station theft and said he was a parole violator. Representatives of the Neenah police department and sheriff's department will leave Wednesday to return the youth, who inside the auditorium, plaster will be repaired, primed and painted. Some minor floor tile work may be required.

Because of the wide variance among the bids, board members questioned Dave Voss, who represented the Miron firm. Voss said the figure on his firm's bid was correct for the job.

The common council will be asked to approve spending the money. The project has been delayed by several previous councils. The cost had been estimated at up to $6,000.

$1,994 Bid for Repair Of Auditorium Wall

P. G. Miron Construction Co. Submits Low Figure on Crack; Need Council Okay

MENASHA—Totaling $1,994 the low bid of P. G. Miron Construction Co. of Appleton to repair the cracked Menasha High School auditorium wall was accepted Monday by the board of education.

Two other bids were submitted for the same project. $2,195 from A. W. Jeske Construction Co. of Appleton and $3,943 from Charles Gambisky Co., Menasha.

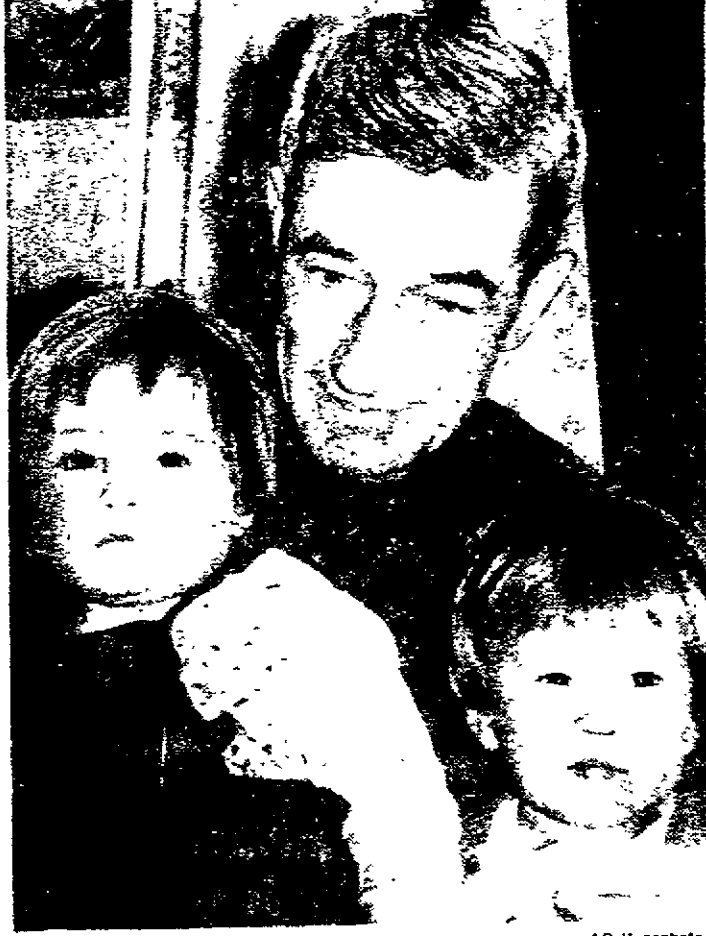

Specifications call for excavating and underpinning 3 feet under the foundation and pouring concrete reinforcements 17 feet west and 10 feet south of the corner. After 14 days the wall load may be placed on the new concrete.

The corner will not be packed to original height. Bricks will be taken down 2 feet on a side, the cracked concrete removed and replaced, the others cleaned and repointed.

Inside the auditorium, plaster will be repaired, primed and painted. Some minor floor tile work may be required.

Because of the wide variance among the bids, board members questioned Dave Voss, who represented the Miron firm. Voss said the figure on his firm's bid was correct for the job.

Donald J. Meindl, 49, Oshkosh, named Wisconsin "truck driver of the year" by the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association, hugs his granddaughters Kathy Meindl, 15 months, and Terry, 2. Earlier this year Meindl was praised for 20 years of driving without an accident.

The trampoline, a jumping device, was questioned by several board members who wanted to know whether the physical education staff could instruct in its use and properly supervise. Gezan explained the staff can give proper supervision to prevent accidents.

The board appointed Joseph Swanowicz, a school bus driver, as manager of the school system's bus fleet for $1,600 from January to June. He succeeds Jerry Heup, who is retiring.

As the Dapper Jimmy Walker, mayor of New York and his wife, above, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Cross were sophisticated and dressed in the height of fashion. John Wilterding and William Hug, right, dressed in the sinister robes of the Ku Klux Klan, recalled some of the more gruesome aspects of the 20's. Below, Mrs. John Wilterding, as the mysterious lady in black, who visited the grave of Valentino monthly, leaving a rose, was a tragic and dramatic figure. Carl Marty appeared as one of a number of sheiks, typifying the popular book and movies of that era.

Spiritual and majestic in scarlet and white taffeta costume, complete with red wig, was Mrs. William Hug as Aimee Semple McPherson, the Evangelist of the Four-Square Gospel. Never without her book and bouquet Mrs. Hug remained in character most of the evening.

As Essential as Missiles

Education Important in Fight Against Reds, Sen. Proxmire Says

OSHKOSH — Education is as important as even more important than missiles in the fight against communism, Sen. William Proxmire told a gathering of Oshkosh State College students, faculty and Young Democrats Monday night at the Reeve Memorial Union.

Proxmire said that in his numerous talks to high school students throughout the state the one thing he has stressed is that students here are in competition with students in Russia. This is very important, he said.

Proxmire said that in an appearance before a senate committee, Adm. Hyman Rickover said that if he had to make a choice between getting money for education or money for missiles, he would ask for money for education. Weapons become obsolete, but education never does, Proxmire quoted Rickover.

Russian Education

Wisconsin's junior senator cited a report on Russian education that was made by a group of educators who toured the Soviet Union. "The report was more shocking than anything I've ever seen," Proxmire said.

Russia has more teachers per pupil than we have and a much higher percentage more professional teachers than we do, he reported. Despite the fact that Proxmire said he has never seen a Russian educational system, he said the Soviet educational system was better than the Soviet Union's.

Russian education system has several characteristics, the senator said. The first characteristic is that education is the chief form of payment. The second is that it is not allowed to seek the truth.

Policy Change

The reason for the central planning of domestic production is the last couple of years after a liberalization following the death of Stalin is that it is necessary to become better educated and want to know the truth.

Proxmire compared Russian communism with fascism. Both are ruled by power, he said. When you go to the left or right, the government is to meet.

In our system of government, you can't go all the way to the left or right, he said. Government has to have some degree of responsibility, but it must respect individual rights. The Bill of Rights guarantees our way from communism and fascism, he added.

If we deny a man his spirit, we deny his reason for existence, Proxmire added.

Lawrence Says Still Question On Stevenson's Role in U.N. Has Strong Views On Foreign Affairs; So Does Kennedy

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Announcement of the selection of Dean Rusk to be secretary of state does not erase the puzzlement over President-elect Kennedy's comment last week after he talked with Adlai Stevenson. Mr. Kennedy was doubtless desirous of making the former Democratic presidential nominee feel that he wouldn't be filling the job of an ordinary ambassador or state department underling if he took the post of U.S. representative in the United Nations. Mr. Kennedy's exact words were as follows:

"The United States ambassador to the United Nations must play a greater role in policy-making, as well as in representing our foreign policy views at the United Nations in New York, itself. The job is part of the cabinet and it is my hope, if Gov. Stevenson accepts the position, that he will attend cabinet meetings and will serve as a strong voice in foreign policy over its entire range. He has always answered the call of duty on every other occasion in his life, and I am hopeful that he will find it possible to serve the United States in this most vital position."

Stevenson Hesitated
The foregoing, with its pointed mention of "a strong voice in foreign policy over its entire range" and of the fact that "the job is part of the cabinet," sounded very much as if the president-elect were trying to persuade Mr. Stevenson that he wasn't being offered a second-rate post. There is the implication that perhaps Mr.

Stevenson shouldn't feel too disappointed because he wasn't being given the secretaryship of state. The former governor of Illinois "has answered the call of duty on every other occasion in his life," and this may have reference to the assignments he took at the U.N. and elsewhere under administrations, including that of President Eisenhower.

But Mr. Stevenson still hesitated. One reporter quoted him as saying:

"It is fair to speculate that there are some unknown factors here which, in an intricate situation, require further clarification."

Strong Views
This could mean that Mr. Stevenson wanted to know more about the policies he would be expected to espouse in the United Nations. It could mean that he was not intrigued merely by the idea of regular attendance at cabinet meetings—for Henry Sabot Lodge was considered a member of the Eisenhower cabinet right along.

Mr. Stevenson, being himself a man of strong views on international questions, isn't going to be a messenger boy or even a parrot for the secretary of state, who ever he is. Mr. Kennedy, being very anxious to get an acceptance from Mr. Stevenson, painted a glowing picture of the importance of the job. Everyone knows, however, who is going to be the real boss. Mr. Kennedy has some positive ideas about how a president should handle his subordinates and, when he makes a policy, he will expect the cabinet and the ambassadors to follow what he has prescribed.

Mr. Kennedy is well aware that many of the so-called "liberals" throughout the country preferred Mr. Stevenson for the presidential nomination last summer and that it's important politically to placate or satisfy them. This is nothing unusual in politics.

Didn't Help Kennedy
President-elect Woodrow Wilson in the months following the 1912 election found himself with somewhat the same dilemma. William Jennings Bryan had run three times as the Democratic nominee for the presidency and was entitled to the secretaryship of state according to political logic. So he was appointed. But the difference between that situation and the one that has faced President-elect Kennedy is that Mr. Bryan was primarily responsible for the nomination of Mr. Wilson at the Baltimore convention, while Mr. Stevenson didn't lift a finger to help Mr. Kennedy.

Will there be any further parallels? Mr. Bryan had his own views and was inclined toward pacifism. After the "Lusitania" was torpedoed, with the loss of many American lives, Mr. Bryan favored appeasement. The U.S. protests to the German government led to Mr. Bryan's sensational letter of resignation, in which he revealed to the public his serious differences with the President. It is to be hoped that Mr. Stevenson, as ambassador to the U.N., will be able to get along without such differences on foreign policy as might lead to a resignation in the midst of the "cold war."

Stars Joan Bennett and Donald Cook take time out to pose with S. N. Pickard, left, of the Neenah Rotary Club just before curtain time Monday night at Appleton High School. The comedy, "Pleasure of his Company," was the second production in the 3-play season of the Neenah Rotary Series.

'Pleasure of Company' Delights Theatergoers

Talented Joan Bennett, Donald Cook Live Up to Their Stage-Star Names

BY JAY JOSLYN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Neenah Rotary Club played Santa Claus Monday night at the Appleton High School auditorium by presenting the brightest, shiniest and, perhaps, the most brittle bauble to appear on a Fox Cities stage in many years. Magnificently mounted, colorfully costumed and perfectly played, "The Pleasure of His Company" was just that — pure, unadulterated pleasure.

The long-run Broadway hit written by Samuel Taylor in collaboration with the production's first leading lady, Cornelia Otis Skinner, is a six-wheel vehicle that hums along in gaudy high gear without a serious semblance of message, mounting romantic rises to take flight in free fancy.

Unlike the more serious work of art the Rotarians wisely used to set off the contrast of their especially fine season last month, the star names were at the controls of the vehicle — and their company was of a caliber seldom seen on the road.

Really Stars
Joan Bennett and Donald Cook gave the paying customers every nuance they could expect. They were elegant and sharp, handsome and skilled, attuned and competitive.

Because of the play's many splendorous facets, it would be unfair and incorrect to say anyone supported the stars. If ever the cliché that the player must fill the role for size were true, it is certainly true in "The Pleasure." Barbara Mattes was a most likeable and attractive daughter who chooses the pleasure of her errant father's company rather than settling down to a socially correct and predictably dull life with a wealthy California Angus breeder. Her youth and good looks were matched well by the ruggedly handsome Michael Bradford as the well meaning rancher overmatched with the romantic playboy father.

Sure-Fire Tricks
On the more adult level, Jerome Collamore created a most lovable portrait of a sardonic former newsman attempting to spread non-conformity from a conformist's ivory tower and Melville Ruick gallantly struggled to bring to bear humdrum standards and gestures on a situation

Cynthia Finds Out About Daytime TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Radio TV Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. (AP) — There's nothing like a blizzard, closed roads and abandoned railroad schedules to reveal to those of us who are usually away from our TV sets during the daytime hours what really goes on during the workday hours.

The TV schedules work out in a pretty fascinating way, I learned Monday. For instance, the television programmers figure that once the working classes are out of the house by around 9 a.m., the remaining housewife's are ready to spend the rest of the morning merely watching other people play guessing games. The networks are awash with things like "Dough Re Mi," "Concentration," "The Price Is Right."

Monday in my storm-tossed section of the country, these apparently endless game sessions were interrupted every 15 minutes or so with storm bulletins, so their full impact was somewhat unhappily diluted.

Move Into Drama
At the stroke of noon, however, we stopped games watching and moved into drama. I tell you, it's hard for a blizzard-stranded watcher to understand all that's going on in TV soap operas, but I assure you that every last sudsy family is in a terrible mess, and often more than one.

On "Search for Tomorrow" there's a pretty girl who for some reason doesn't want to face pain and rejection, and there's talk of taking Patty, whoever she is, to a psychiatrist. Then, on "Guiding Light," a mother-in-law is trying to bust up the marriage of Michael and Robin. But on "As the World Turns," things are looking up — a girl just passed the crisis of her illness, and everybody is collapsing from joy at the good news.

As the day wore slowly on, we moved out of the soaps and into some reruns of old nighttime shows. There was also the Art Linkletter show, where I was the most surprised viewer to find jolly Art interviewing a man on, of all subjects, the crimes of Adolph Eichmann.

It makes you feel glad and kind of warm inside that there's always that little knob on the set that you can turn to "off."

Echo Satellite to Shine for Area Folks This Week

If clear evening skies continue, Fox Cities residents will see Echo balloon satellite this week.

Milwaukee Astronomical Society listed the following times for Echo's Wisconsin appearances:

Today—6:05 and 8:08 p.m.
Wednesday—5:32, 7:35 and 9:38 p.m.
Thursday—5, 7:03 and 9:06 p.m.
Friday—6:30 and 8:33 p.m.
Saturday—5:57 and 8 p.m.

Each time the satellite will rise out of the west. The first time each night it will move toward the east and be seen for 15 to 20 minutes. The second time it will go southeastward for 8 to 12 minutes. The third time it will head almost straight southward for 2 to 6 minutes.

The balloon is between 650 and 800 miles from earth.

Tuition Increased By Beloit College

Beloit college will adopt a comprehensive fee system and increase its annual charges to students next fall, President Miller has announced.

Tuition and special fees now itemized separately will be included in the new total tuition figure.

He said that beginning in 1961, tuition, including all fees, will be increased to $1,275, and room charges will be increased to $375. Annual board charges of $450 will remain unchanged. The increases will bring total charges to $2,100. Current charges total $1,800, not including special fees.

Retail Association Backs Parking Plan

Urges Extension of Franklin Street First, Then Two Ramps

The extension of Franklin Street and construction of two city parking ramps downtown are being requested by the Retail Association of Appleton's Chamber of Commerce.

It wants immediate action on all three proposals so they can be completed in time for the 1961 Christmas shopping season.

The association is asking its members, as community business leaders, to take the initiative in calling their aldermen and the mayor urging immediate action to solve the parking problem.

In its proposed three-phase program, the association gives precedence to extending Franklin Street, both for improving downtown traffic flow and to acquire land for 650 parking stalls.

City Appraisal

An appraisal the city had made shows land needed for street and parking purposes would cost about $70,000. Construction costs for both would be additional.

After this is done, the association wants the city to meter the free lot at the northeast corner of Washington and Division Streets, near the water tower, to get the all-day parkers to move to the new area on Franklin Street. Many persons who work downtown park in the free lot.

This free lot does not belong entirely to the city, which is one of the reasons it has never been metered. About one-third of it is owned by the Chicago and North Western Railroad, and is leased to the city for a nominal fee.

The second phase of the plan would be to ramp the two lots on Morrison Street between Franklin and Washington Streets, to increase present capacity of 180 cars to 450.

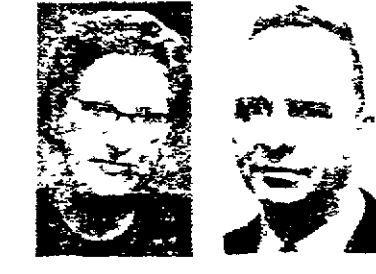

Third part of the plan would be to ramp the two lots on the southeast and southwest corners of Division and Washington Streets. This could be done, the association says, as the other ramp begins to bring in revenue.

Hospital Said To Be in Good Financial Shape

Association Elects Two New Directors At Annual Meeting

Operating losses for Appleton Memorial Hospital for the year ending Sept. 30 were greater than for the previous year, but smaller than anticipated, hospital association treasurer Walter L. Rugland reported at the annual meeting Monday.

The hospital is in a sound financial position, he told members.

who also heard other reports, elected two new directors and re-elected three people to the board.

New directors are Wilbur A. Cline, 205 S. Pierce Ave., president and treasurer of W. A. Cline and Sons' Shop, and Harvey Francis Jr., 926 W. Spruce St., chief inspector at Fox River Tractor Co.

Revenue Increases

Re-elected were Rudolph, 124 River Drive, Stuart H. Koon, 22 River Drive, and Mrs. Loretta Stohman, 1725 S. Cornell St. Two doctors, Earl D. Miller and Cecil H. Winger, were re-elected to the board.

Rugland said hospital operating losses for the year were $1,000, or $1,200, but that the association's fund of $100,000 was sufficient to cover the losses.

Koch

doctors, Earl D. Miller and Cecil H. Winger, were re-elected to the board.

Rugland said hospital operating losses for the year were $1,000, or $1,200, but that the association's fund of $100,000 was sufficient to cover the losses.

Two Major Problems

Major problems, Rugland said, are the inability to pay for the hospital's share of the regional health care costs, and the inability to pay for the hospital's share of the regional health care costs.

Fund Transferred

During the year, all assets of the endowment fund were transferred to a corporate trust. Auditors reported that Sept. 30 the fund had assets of $250,000, including $150,000 given during the year.

Appleton Memorial Hospital

Auditors presented the association with $12,000, bringing to $80,000 the amount paid in three years on the auxiliary's $100,000 ten-year pledge.

The building committee which guided planning, construction and maintenance of the hospital before and after its opening in February, 1958, was discharged with praise by the association. A new building and grounds committee will be named by the president elected by the board of directors next Monday.

Judge Mueller Seeks 2nd Term

Takes Out Papers From County Clerk; Elected in 1955

OSHKOSH — Nomination papers for the office of judge of branch No. 1 of the Winnebago County courts have been issued to County Judge Herbert J. Mueller by County Clerk Nell A. Hoffman.

Mueller, who is 51 years of age, lives at 234 Prospect St., Menasha. He is now in his first term as county judge, the term expiring as of Jan. 1, 1962.

Judge Mueller was elected county judge in the April, 1955 election and took office for a 6-year term Jan. 1, 1956. He succeeded the late D. E. McDonald as county judge.

Prior to his election, Mueller served five years as district attorney and five years as assistant district attorney.

Stocks Dip in Slow Trading

Average Dragged Down by General Lower Trend

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market dipped moderately in slow trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 30 stocks declined .50 to 218.20, with the industrials down .90, rails down .80 and utilities up .10.

The market was encountering technical resistance on the upside after its surprising advance of last week, capped by Monday's rise. Inspiration for a further advance was lacking, however.

The average was dragged down by a generally lower trend among stocks, nonferrous metals, rails and selected issues in various other groups. Oils and utilities were steady on balance. Chemicals and electrical equipments were mixed.

The Dow Jones industrial average closed at 218.20, down .90 from 219.10. The average was dragged down by a generally lower trend among stocks, nonferrous metals, rails and selected issues in various other groups.

Temperatures in many central and eastern areas were the coldest since last winter, although the weather was moderating considerably in the northwestern states.

Police in the northwestern states reported a number of traffic accidents, but no serious ones.

CHICAGO (AP)—Live chickens, wholesale prices, were 17¢ to 18¢ a pound, up from 16¢ to 17¢ a pound, reported by the market.

Will Continue Very Cold Tuesday Night in the Northeast and in the Ohio and Tennessee valleys, while cold weather will persist in the rest of the Atlantic states. The lakes area, the upper and middle Mississippi Valley and the central plains will be colder. Rain, freezing rain and snow are forecast for the southern plains, southern Rockies and the western parts of the central plains. Northern California, Washington and Oregon will have showers and western Montana will have rain mixed with snow.

OSHKOSH — Town chairmen met with county agents at the Winnebago County courthouse Monday night to develop a rural civil defense and disaster program.

The objective of the program is to help people of the county develop a plan for protection from tornadoes, fires, fallout and other disasters.

The program is an outgrowth of a project launched last spring by an extension county planning committee. Concentration is on the home and outlying schools.

CD Coordinator

Randall Swanson, agriculture engineer from the University of Wisconsin, and Donald Jensen, civil defense coordinator from the state department of agriculture, presented information on the subject.

Initial ideas on the needs of each township and how to reach people were planned and recorded for each township. Vernon W. Peroucky, county agent and chairman for the meeting, reported an area meeting of county agents will be held at the Green Bay YMCA on Dec. 29 on this subject.

More specific plans for Winnebago county will be outlined by agents of Winnebago County who will meet in Oshkosh Dec. 21.

Tornado Committed

Also meeting with the township representatives were members of the original county tornado protection committee and the newly formed Winnebago County board of civil defense.

The committee includes Joseph Drexler, Oshkosh, county board chairman; Warren Mirac, Vinland; Max Carpenter, Rushford; Frank Metz, Town of Clayton; and Gordon Hanson, Winchester.

George Oakes, Oshkosh, county civil defense director, also took part in the meeting.

As a result of the accident the Green Bay Building Trades Council has asked the Wisconsin Industrial Commission to investigate what the council called violations of state safety regulations at the construction scene.

Jack O'Malley, business representative of the council, said safety regulations require that shoring be used when a trench is over a man's head. He said no shoring was in evidence at the fatal accident scene.

Kispiert said today the construction crew had dug a tapered slope and shoring is not required under the state code.

Appleton Firms Win Contracts for New Readfield School

NEW LONDON — Contracts have been let for the 10-classroom school at Readfield by the Board of Education.

Al Utchig and Sons Construction Co., Appleton, won the general contract on a bid of $55,924. R. Wenzel and Co., Appleton, is handling the electrical work for $18,500.

CHICAGO — The retirement of Charles Edison, former governor of New Jersey and former secretary of the navy, as a director and chairman of the board of McGraw-Edison Company, effective Jan. 1, 1961, was announced today.

At 70, Edison is rounding out 47 years with McGraw-Edison and predecessor companies. He said his retirement would permit him to give greater time and attention to civic and political matters.

The McGraw-Edison Company has 44 divisions and subsidiaries in 17 states, Canada and abroad, including a plant at New London.

Civil Defense In Rural Areas Meeting Topic

Town Chairmen, County Agents Attend Session

OSHKOSH — Town chairmen met with county agents at the Winnebago County courthouse Monday night to develop a rural civil defense and disaster program.

The objective of the program is to help people of the county develop a plan for protection from tornadoes, fires, fallout and other disasters.

The program is an outgrowth of a project launched last spring by an extension county planning committee. Concentration is on the home and outlying schools.

CD Coordinator

Randall Swanson, agriculture engineer from the University of Wisconsin, and Donald Jensen, civil defense coordinator from the state department of agriculture, presented information on the subject.

Initial ideas on the needs of each township and how to reach people were planned and recorded for each township. Vernon W. Peroucky, county agent and chairman for the meeting, reported an area meeting of county agents will be held at the Green Bay YMCA on Dec. 29 on this subject.

More specific plans for Winnebago county will be outlined by agents of Winnebago County who will meet in Oshkosh Dec. 21.

Tornado Committed

Also meeting with the township representatives were members of the original county tornado protection committee and the newly formed Winnebago County board of civil defense.

The committee includes Joseph Drexler, Oshkosh, county board chairman; Warren Mirac, Vinland; Max Carpenter, Rushford; Frank Metz, Town of Clayton; and Gordon Hanson, Winchester.

George Oakes, Oshkosh, county civil defense director, also took part in the meeting.

As a result of the accident the Green Bay Building Trades Council has asked the Wisconsin Industrial Commission to investigate what the council called violations of state safety regulations at the construction scene.

Jack O'Malley, business representative of the council, said safety regulations require that shoring be used when a trench is over a man's head. He said no shoring was in evidence at the fatal accident scene.

Kispiert said today the construction crew had dug a tapered slope and shoring is not required under the state code.

COOPERATIVE PLANS New Equipment in Remodeled Plant

Automatic bulk feed handling equipment will soon be installed at the Outagamie Equity Cooperative Exchange, 320 N. Division St.

Building Inspector Walter Bogan has issued a remodeling permit for work estimated to cost $29,700.

Paul Nagan, exchange manager, says six bulk storage silos with total capacity of 190 tons will be built in the present plant. They will protrude through the roof, and a 70-foot feed elevator will be built to load the silos from the top.

A new five-ton feed mixer will also be installed, he says.

The new equipment will increase efficiency, the manager said, and will reduce the amount of feed handled in bags. A bulk delivery truck is being purchased.

It is expected the new system will be in operation by Jan. 1.

Catlin Versus Board

Supervisor Vies With County's Traditions

Appleton Supv. Mark Catlin, quets without comment or explanation has frequently run into the tradition of the county government, had another run-in with the Outagamie County board this morning.

In an otherwise routine session, Catlin found himself asking why the highway committee hadn't reported on his request for information on a new piece of equipment requested for next year.

The committee, Catlin complained, had just re-submitted its request.

There was no report because the committee minutes furnished supervisors were for November, explained Highway Chairman Ed Peotter (Osborn). Highway committee minutes are always a month behind.

Besides, as it developed, the explanation probably wasn't in the minutes anyway.

So the committee offered to have Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson come in and explain things to the board.

In Writing

But Catlin said he wanted a written report on the details of a type of shovel the committee wanted to spend $35,000 on. "I asked for a report so I could be informed. I can't listen to a verbal report and do any investigation or make a sensible conclusion the morning," Catlin complained. Put off any action for a month for the report, he suggested.

"Let Brownson talk," interjected Freedom Supv. Joseph Weyers.

"Yes," repeated Highway Committee Member I. A. Grunwaldt Black Creek. "If we hear from Brownson now, you'll just get the same information again if you put off obeying this for a month."

Highway Foe

The machine would compete with private operators, commented Appleton Supv. Alois Fischer, long-time critic of the county's highway department.

Brownson appeared, gave glowing reports of the machine garnered from Brown, Lincoln and Dodge counties and admitted there had been no investigation of the availability of a used machine. "I'm skeptical about buying used machinery," Brownson commented.

Catlin complimented Brownson, within his request for the postponement of buying the machinery, and the supervisors okayed the committee's request.

"Now," Catlin told his fellow board members, "wouldn't it have been easier if the committee had made the report and we didn't have to waste all this time?"

There was no discernible answer.

Indian Council Will Choose Tribe Trustees

Corporation to Operate Mills, Develop Recreation

Post-Crescent News Service

KESHENA — A Menominee Indian General Council will reconvene here tonight to name the trustees who will take over assets of the tribal reservation from the federal government on termination day April 30.

A slate of four non-Menominees and three tribal members will be chosen as voting trustees to represent the 3,270 enrolled Menominees in operation of the tribal business corporation. Menominee Enterprises, Inc. The seven voting trustees, in turn, will name a nine-member board of directors—five Menominees and four non-Menominees—to operate the Indians' $35 million forest, lumber mill and to develop the commercial recreational potential of the 235,000-acre reservation.

Under conditions of the plan for termination adopted in general council last year, the voting trustees will represent the shares of individual Indians in tribal property for at least 10 years and possibly 30 years. At the end of 10 years and again at the end of 20 years, the Indians may make a decision on whether they want to receive their individual shares of tribal assets. In 1981, it is planned, individual shares will be allocated, if that has not been done before.

March 1 Deadline
Instead of negotiable shares, each Menominee will receive a "certificate of beneficial interest" which cannot be sold or transferred.

Deadline for selection of voting trustees is March 1, under the present termination act.

George Kenote, who is a Menominee on leave from the law and order division of the Bureau of Indian Affairs to aid in the tribal termination, said Monday delay by the tribe in selecting trustees could mean the loss of state plans to set up Menominee County, loss of the plan to incorporate the reservation territory on Shawano School District Eight and loss of the state-approved plan to place shares of children in a special trust.

Seek Extension
Jerome Grignon, new tribal chairman, said a time extension will be sought when the new Congress convenes in January, but he doubts if there is a chance for outright repeal of the 1954 termination act.

Mrs. Irene Mack, who served as a tribal delegate to Washington earlier this year and to the National Congress of American Indians in Denver, Colo., in November claimed the Menominees are serving as "guinea pigs" of a federal government experiment to sever its obligations to the Indians of the nation.

"Termination," she said, "is an unjust and an unfair law, but we do have to obey it." She said the time element is against the Menominees.

State Highway Budget Set at $341,895,595

MADISON (AP) — The State Highway Commission wants to spend $341,895,595 on Wisconsin roads and streets during 1961-62.

Chairman Harvey Graese of the commission met with Gov. Gaylord Nelson Monday and outlined the program. Graese said most of the money will come from gasoline taxes, license fees and federal aid.

The program calls for $152.5 million for construction, $34.5 million for maintenance, $8.2 million for administration, $5.2 million for traffic services and $136.2 million for local roads and streets.

About $48.8 million of the money slated for new construction will go toward the interstate system. Graese told Nelson that 106.8 miles of the interstate system is open to traffic in Wisconsin and the other 50 miles between Wisconsin and Madison will be ready in the fall of 1961.

Board Seeks Architects for Two Schools

New Elementary, Foster Addition Proposed for 1963

The Appleton Board of Education is asking the Appleton Common Council for architectural services for the proposed $1 million elementary school in southeast Appleton and a $400,000 addition to Foster school.

The new schools will not be ready for 1962 as proposed in the board's 5-year building plan, Supr. John P. Mann said, but if a so-called is given for planning now, they will be ready for use in September, 1963.

Mann suggested George G. Narovec, who designed the original eight-room Foster School six years ago, as architect for the proposed eight-room addition.

Work Proceeds Quickly
Royce E. Kurtz should start the teaching staff thinking about needs for the building projects when he takes over as superintendent next month, Mann said.

Work on the new Edison School is ahead of schedule, business director William R. Knuth told the Mann said.

Sverre Engen to Give Program at Manitowoc For Interested Skiers

Sverre Engen, former Olympic team member from Norway and ski instructor at Aspen, Colo., will present a colored movie, "Ski Time U. S. A.," and talk at 8 p.m. Thursday at Woodrow Wilson Junior High School, Manitowoc.

Engen also was instructor at San Valley, Colo., for 16 years before beginning his movie work. Proceeds from the show will be turned over to Hidden Valley Ski patrol for use on equipment for the Hidden Valley Ski club's area north of Manitowoc.

The club's area, with seven runs, will be operating this weekend if there is more snow, Jack Frolick, ski area director said.
